I. PREFACE

This yearbook is now published for the second time. In the winter of 1983-84, a succession of coincidences led to me publishing "The Icelandic Football Yearbook 1983". The response was quite overwhelming, and certainly I sold more copies than I would ever have imagined. By then, the message was clear: "The Icelandic Football Yearbook" was here to stay.

So here it is for the second time, certainly bigger than last year. I have tried to include as much information as possible; and among the "extra" features, apart from the traditional clubs' section, is a statistical history of Icelandic football, information about Iceland's internationals for 1984 and statistics about all league clubs in Iceland in 1984.

Hopefully, this will be of some interest to readers; if not, I shall have failed in reaching my goal.

Reykjavik, in January 1985,

Björn Þorsteinsson.

2. Top Scorers 1984

The following lists feature the top goalscorers in each of the four divisions in Iceland in the 1984 season. First division scores show both league and cup goals; however, the players are put in order of league goals scored. In the bottom two divisions, information about which group the clubs play in is included, whereas the number of teams in the groups differ and therefore the number of matches as well, so the goals total by itself doesn't tell the whole story.

1984 Cup final:

Laugardalsvöllur, 26.8.84

ÍA (0) (1) 2 (Guðbjörn Tryggvason 88, Árni Sveinsson 91) -
Fram (0) (1) 1 (Guðmundur Steinsson 53)
(after extra time)

ÍA: Bjarni Sigurðsson; Guðjón Þórðarson, Jón Áskelsson, Sigurður Lárusson, Sigurður Halldórsson, Hörður Jóhannesson (Ólafur Þórðarson), Sveinbjörn Hákonarson (Júlíus P. Ingólfsson), Karl Þórðarson, Sigþór Ómarsson, Guðbjörn Tryggvason, Árni Sveinsson.

Fram: Guðmundur Baldursson; Trausti Haraldsson, Þorsteinn Þorsteinsson, Hafþór Sveinjónsson (Gísli Hjálmtýsson), Sverrir Einarsson, Kristinn Jónsson, Viðar Þorkelsson (Bragi Björnsson), Guðmundur Steinsson, Ómar Jóhansson, Guðmundur Torfason, Þorsteinn Vilhjálmsson.

Attendance: 3675.

Comment: This match was a great battle between two determined teams, but unfortunately the conditions were poor so the match didn't see too much good football. After a goalless first half, Fram seemed to have the edge in the second half and scored early on through magic man Guðmundur Steinsson. They then stuck to the lead and almost made it to the end. But to their utmost dissapointment, ÍA equalised just two minutes from time with what the Fram players claimed to be an illegal goal. This destroyed Fram's concentration, and just one minute into extra time Árni Sveinsson scored what was to be the winning goal.

The First Division Clubs
listed in order of final position

INTRODUCTION TO THE CLUBS' SECTION

The main part of this book is devoted to the first division clubs in Iceland in 1984. Each first division club is given three pages, on which the main statistics of the season are covered. Most of the information on these pages shouldn't need too much explanation, but some of it does, and these are given below.

Page one gives the club's playing record in a condensed form. Most of this should be self-explanatory. However, it is necessary to clarify that the internationals' figures on this page (in "Most capped player") are as they were at the start of the 1984 season. That, indeed, is always the case in the clubs' section. Furthermore, it should be noted that the given figure in the "Most capped player" column is the TOTAL number of caps earned by the player as such, that is, this is not confined to caps that the player earned whilst on the books of the club in mention.

Page two gives complete playing details of the club for the 1984 season. This is divided into two tables, one showing the facts about each of the club's league matches, the other featuring the line-ups in each match. Neither of them should need any commentation. In between those tables, I've put facts about each club's cup record for the season as well as goalscorers' figures. In the cup facts, an "e" in the scoreline indicates "after extra time", and a "p" indicates that the match was decided through a penalty shoot-out. In those instances, the half-time scoreline and the score after extra time are also given. In the goalscorers' figures, cup goals are seperated from league goals with a plus ("+").

Page three gives the information I possess about the players. Concerning "international merits" statistics, "A" indicates full international, "U-21" stands for U-21 international, "J" stands for junior international (age 16-18) and "Y" indicates youth international (age 14-16). Goals scored are given in brackets. I've tried to give as complete a picture as possible of the players' playing record to date, giving their previous clubs in correct order and specifying the seasons 1983 and 1984 seperately (these are the only seasons that I have playing records for). The positions of some players were unknown to me, and these are listed seperately. Finally, players that have left the club since last season are given, their position being shown with the following characters: "G"=goalkeeper, "D"=defender, "M"=midfield player, and "F"=forward. Due to lack of space, I had to "tighten up" this page in a couple of instances, and I apologize for the inconvenience this may cause readers.

Comment on 1984 season: Í.A. were really much better than any other side in the first division, despite missing their young key player, Sigurður Jónsson, almost throughout the season due to injury. They won eight matches in a row early on, after starting indifferently, and it was clear already in July that Í.A. were going to clinch the championship for the second succesive year, and they could allow themselves some hiccups as the season drew to a close. Í.A. also won the cup, for a third successive year, thus establishing a record of winning the "double" for two years running.

Comment on the 1984 season: After winning only two matches during the first half of the season, the Valur team really got going in the second half and remained unbeaten in their last eight matches, thus clinching second place in the league and the right to play in the UEFA Cup in 1985-86. That is remarkable considering that Valur were bottom of the division in late June, with some eight rounds gone. Their player of the season was the composed centre-back Guðni Bergsson, who was voted "young player of the year" by his fellow first division players.

Comment on the 1984 season: This team from Keflavik, 50 kilometers from Reykjavik, started the season in fine form. They were on top of the first division for a short while early on, but then they lost out to ÍA. However, ÍBK remained in second place almost to the very end, when Valur overtook them by a point. It is interesting to note that, despite ending up in third place, ÍBK conceded three goals more than they scored. Most of their wins were by a single goal, and the defeats they suffered included some heavy ones.

Comment on the 1984 season: The runners-up in 1983 had lots of ups and downs this season. They started badly, but after a 5-1 trashing of the then second-in-league IBK in the Cup, their morale was up, lifting them from the bottom to secure fourth place. KR used 23 players during the season, mainly due to injuries to many key players, such as their captain Ottó Guðmundsson. Their success player of the season was newcomer Gunnar Gislason, who netted six goals in the league and cup, and a further two in an astonishing 2-2 draw with European champions Liverpool in August, who fielded all their stars except Mark Lawrenson, Sammy Lee and Paul Walsh.

Comment on the 1984 season: Not many people expected Víkingur to do well this season, due to an exodus of key players during the close season. For one thing, the club had to field this season an almost totally reshaped defensive line from last season. However, most of the newcomers fitted in well, and the Víkingur team was, one might say, the surprise team of the season. Their team was a very stabile one: six of their players played were ever-present in the league. The season for Víkingur was full of ups and downs: they registered some great victories as well as some heavy defeats. In the end, their team had scored 29 goals in the league, second only to runaway champions ÍA, but they had also conceded 28 goals, second only to relegated KA.

Comment on the 1984 season: One of the "old giants" of Icelandic football, Fram was this season back in the first division after spending only their third season away from the top section since the start in 1912. Their present team is young and inexperienced, and that was all too evident most of the season. With a mere four rounds to go, Fram was rock bottom of the division after losing four out of their last five matches. At that stage, however, the team pulled itself together and finished in great style, collecting ten points out of twelve in their last four matches and finishing a comfortable sixth. Fram reached the Cup final as well, only to lose 1:2 to ÍA in a game they really should have won. Their star player of the season was the first division's top goal-grabber Guðmundur Steinson, who scored an impressive total of 10 goals in the league as well as five goals in only four cup matches.

Comment on the 1984 season: This young club from Akureyri in northern Iceland, the surprise team of 1983, didn't really show off the goods this season. Like most other clubs, Þór had their turn at the bottom, and, in fact, remained in the lower part of the division for most of the season. They didn't start well, and didn't find the net four matches in a row early on, but then they got down to business in a 5:2 away trashing of KR and after that they didn't have any trouble scoring goals. Their defensive line, however, proved to be weak at times, and they had serious trouble deciding who should be the first choice goalkeeper.

Comment on the 1984 season: Many people expexted the young and promising Þróttur team to do well this season. In fact, this almost came true, as the team stayed in third or fourth place almost throughout the season. However, they lost out when the season drew to a close, and, despite a fine win over ÍA (who had by then already made sure of the title) in their penultimate match, came dangerously close to relegation in the end. The main weakness of this Þróttur team is that they find it hard to score goals. The apparent loss of form during the later stages of the season could maybe be accounted for by the loss of key player and captain Jóhann Hreiðarsson through injury nearly throughout the second half of the season.

Comment on the 1984 season: This club from Kópavogur, a suburban city of Reykjavik, after being rated for so long as "the team of tomorrow", had a disastrous season and had to suffer relegation after spending five consecutive seasons in the first division. UBK were found very much lacking in attack, where they sorely missed their ex-star player Sigurður Grétarsson, who scored fourteen goals for the club last season but is now playing in Greece. Furthermore, UBK's form on their splendid home pitch in Kópavogur was quite unsatisfactory. UBK stayed in 7th, 8th or 9th place throughout the season, apart from the first two rounds, and after a 0:3 away defeat at the hands of champions ÍA in their last match of the season, they were finally doomed to leave the top section.

Comment on the 1984 season: Promoted in 1983 along with Fram, KA started the season quite well, and were in fourth place with six rounds gone. Still later on, after eleven matches, they were a comfortable fifth. From then on, however, they were going downwards and lost six of their last seven matches. Many of those defeats were heavy, and in the end KA had conceded an incredible 39 goals in just 18 matches, far more than any other team in the first division. The trouble with this KA team seems to be inexperience; most of its players are young with little first team football behind them. The club doesn't appear to have too much strength-in-depth, either: in spite of their bad record they used only 19 players this season. What KA really seemed to be missing was a courageous leader like their ex-player Gunnar Gíslason, who is now playing with KR.

V. LEAGUE CLUBS IN 1984

The table below shows, in as compressed a format as possible, the basic facts about each of the 76 league clubs in Iceland in 1984. Firstly, full name of the club is given. Readers will doubtless notice that the "first names" of the clubs are all very similiar; and, in order to satisfy the most curious readers, I have translated these (see table on page 59). Secondly, the hometown of the club is listed. Some clubs are county clubs, and therfore do not play in any particular town. In these cases, the home county of the club is given, and put in brackets to seperate from town names. Thirdly, the "short" name of the club is given, that is the common name which is most often used. The names in this column are therefore the names most often used in this book. In the fourth place, the number of seasons in each division is given. And, in the fifth place, the usual colours of the clubs are given, densely abbreviated. The colours are: black (bk), white (w), blue (be), red (r), yellow (y), green (g), orange (o), purple (p), and brown (bn). In the occurence of "multicoloured" shirts (or stockings), a slash ("/") indicates striped shirts or stockings (e.g. "b/w" indicates "black and white stripes") and a colon (":") indicates hooped shirts or stockings in the same way as is shown above.
